THE BULLETIN OF THE

IN MEMORY OF JAMES H. HOYT

One of the most important recent gifts to the Library is the remarkable set of books and portfolios on the North American Indian, by Edward S. Curtis, received from Mrs. James H. Hoyt, Mrs. Amasa Stone Mather and Mr. Elton Hoyt, 2dd, in memory of the late James H. Hoyt, whose enthusiastic enjoyment of the Museum is thus perpetuated.

This set of books is undoubtedly the most exhaustive and important work on the North American Indian ever published. The result of many years of study of and life among the Indians, it combines with careful text a most remarkable series of photogravure reproductions of individual portraits of Indians and of scenes representing Indian life of the past and of to-day.

It is planned soon to make an exhibit from these plates, which should prove of interest not only as representing authentic records of a vanishing race and time, but also as works of art by one of the leading modern photographers.

The first eleven volumes have been received and the balance will follow as issued by the publishers.
